

Submit Your Idea for the 2020 New England Stormy Awards – Recognizing New England’s Best Stormwater Work!

The New England Stormwater Collaborative continues its efforts to identify the best stormwater work in New England. Our award program is intended to identify simple, imaginative, unique and inventive stormwater ideas in one of three categories:

- Stormwater Management/Green Infrastructure
- Political Support/ Funding/Outreach
- Program Efficiency/Technology

Tell us how your community or business is improving our region’s ability to deliver stormwater services in one of these three categories and you could win a 2020 - Stormy Award!

- The Top Three Ideas will be featured in a special awards session at the 2021 New England APWA Summer Conference or future event.
- The Top Three Idea winners will receive complimentary registration to the conference.
- The best ideas submitted will be featured on the Collaborative’s webpage and in our organizations’ publications.

Ideas will be judged based on ingenuity, transferability and how effectively the idea has helped manage stormwater, increase public support, create program efficiency or leverage a unique technology.

The competition is open to all clever ideas from EPA Region 1 and no idea is too big or too small. If you’re not sure that your idea qualifies, or if you can’t come to the award session, please submit your idea so we can share them with others looking for creative solutions.

Get more information here and submit your best idea. The submission form is short and easy to fill out. Submissions from the previous year will be reconsidered for this year and do not need to be resubmitted. Submitters do not have to write a paper, but winners will be invited to give a short presentation at the award session.

The submission period is open until March 1, 2021. Winners will be announced in April 2021.

A summary of last year’s winners can be found here.
